Big Wills Valley Stool

Randy designed the first Big Wills Valley Stool as a drafting chair. However, this tall stool serves well as a bar stool or for use at a kitchen island. Wood Studio has been producing variations of this stool for over 20 years.

Similar in design and construction to the Little Wills Stool, the mortise and tenon joints of the seat frame are locked by the wedged through tenons created by the front legs. A pinned bridal joint locks the rear legs into the hand-shaped seat frame.

The stool has a hand-stretched saddle leather seat with a slightly-curved wooden back rest that promotes comfortable posture. The stool also has a substantial foot rest made of the same materials as the back rest.

Each Big Wills Stool comes natural in color with a hand-rubbed oil-and-wax finish that is very durable and easily maintained.

Wood Studio offers this Signature piece in a variety of native hardwoods, including walnut, cherry, maple, red and white oak and ash. We are open to special requests for other select materials and finishes.

Each Signature Selection offered by Wood Studio is 100% handmade by the Cochrans. We guarantee that each piece will be free from defects in craftsmanship and materials for as long as the piece or the Cochrans are around. Wood Studio builds each piece to provide for generations of enjoyment.
